Come experience an OKA+ workshop this summer!

Several OKA+ workshops covering all grade levels and an assortment of topics will be open to the public on Wednesday, July 19th and Wednesday, July 26th during our annual summer summits at UCO in Edmond.

Come for an afternoon and choose one or two workshops to attend! Titles, descriptions, and registration forthcoming.

Interested in joining the Oklahoma A+ Schools Network or know someone who is?

Information Meetings will be held Wednesday, May 10th and Thursday, May 11th via Zoom.

Andrea is the principal of Southern Nazarene University Lab School, one of our OKA+ Network demonstration schools! Andrea has worked in education for over 20 years, having received her bachelor's degree in early childhood education and her master's in curriculum and instruction from Southern Nazarene University in Bethany. She is currently pursuing her doctorate in educational administration and leadership.

During a week-long summer induction, Andrea was introduced to OKA+ as a classroom teacher. “A+ fit in beautifully with our project-based learning style at the Lab School, and I instantly saw the value of a partnership with A+. The eight Essentials brought the language to what had been happening in the classroom. Connecting with other schools and having intentional conversations about how the arts could be integrated into every aspect of our day was beautiful. OKA+ has been an incredible way to add to our professional development. We are grateful for the PD and the networking opportunities we receive from OKA+!”

Be sure to say hello to Andrea when you see her at the next OKA+ event!

SNU Lab School is a laboratory school for Southern Nazarene University, where the university students can have a hands-on experiential learning opportunity while pursuing their degree. The Lab School exists to teach every child, to train the next generation of teachers, and to continuously improve through guided research.
